

OFFICE OF MONROE COUNTY EXECUTIVE CHERYL DINOLFO

Proclamation

When there is a pressing need for progress in a community, we rely on experts in fields like planning, engineering, design, and architecture to meet that need. Those individuals are dedicated to promoting our nation's quality of life and protecting the health, safety, and welfare of its citizens, while building our future brick-by-brick.

The American Institute of Architects (AIA) serves as the collective voice of those men and women who turn dreams and visions into reality. The organization empowers its members to design a better built environment and a better future for all to enjoy, while contributing to a more prosperous architecture profession. Nationwide, AIA represents 94,000 members at over 200 chapters around the world.

Locally, the Rochester Chapter has embodied these principles for 100 years. With over 360 members winning numerous prestigious awards, the group continues to invest resources into current and future members, enhancing the vibrancy of our community for generations to come.

As AIA Rochester celebrates its Centennial, Monroe County pauses to recognize the important contributions of the architecture community and the profound impact it has had on our shared history and hope for a prosperous future.

THEREFORE, I, Cheryl Dinolfo, Monroe County Executive, do hereby proclaim, Wednesday, January 23rd, 2019 to be:
