

Project Description/Project Title and Data:

The interior design intent for the College's President's House was to create a fresh and modern aesthetic to reflect the College's desires. The goal was to create a comfortable residence while being a refined harmonious home which is mainly used for entertaining and hosting a range of events by the college's president.

Recognizing Seneca Lake as the backdrop not only for this building but for the whole campus, the color palette was influenced by the many seasons of the lake.

Updating the classic Greek revival home circa 1836 with sophisticated fabrics, luxurious wallcoverings and whimsical lighting, through the layering tones of rich grays, blues and greens as you experience the spaces resulted in blending the best of contemporary and traditional design, comfort and style.

The objective was to incorporate existing key furniture pieces from the College's collection while respecting the idea that an incoming president would bring some of their own art. Several custom furniture pieces were sourced from a local furniture designer and existing pieces were reupholstered to update classic pieces. Working with the College we curated an eclectic art collection for the house incorporating both classic and contemporary artists of our time.

This dramatic combination produces a sophisticated and elegant environment infused with warmth and ease, streamlined without sacrificing any of its classic charm.
